The community library opened a new reading room on Monday. The room contains 120 books and has space